Did you know that in the early 1900s the original 'Hookless 2' was later renamed the zipper due to the zipping sound it made when opened and closed? The Loop Studio has paid homage to the faithful fastener with a sleek and sophisticated stripe. A polyester yarn is used to resemble the metallic teeth of a closed zipper sitting within a lustrous rayon twill. Zipper exceeds 102,000 double rubs, Wyzenbeek method, and has a Teflon finish and light acrylic backing for increased performance. Loop is available through interior designers and architects.
